| Description | | | |
| The publication details page should probably just omit any fields that have no data, shouldn't it? Or at least it should show them more compactly. Also, it doesn't need to show implementation-dependent stuff like the publication ID. (I know you know all this -- just trying to be thorough) | | | |

- Description updated

Oh -- one of my publications (http://test.soundsoftware.ac.uk/cannam/publications/1?project_id=weevilmatic) shows the empty fields, the other (http://test.soundsoftware.ac.uk/cannam/publications/2?project_id=weevilmatic) does not.

Perhaps this is something that has changed / been fixed in the code that initialises a publication?
